

iSharesSM S&P 100[®] Index Fund

Product Description

Description of iSharesSM S&P 100[®] - iShares S&P 100 are exchange-traded funds that represent ownership in the S&P 100 Index Fund. This fund is designed to provide investment returns corresponding to the price and yield performance, before fees and expenses, of the S&P 100 Index[®] as compiled by Standard & Poor's (a division of The McGraw-Hill Companies, Inc.). There is no assurance that the performance of the S&P 100 Index can be fully matched.

Administration – Barclays Global Fund Advisors, a subsidiary of Barclays Global Investors, N.A., is the advisor to each fund. Investors Bank & Trust Company (IBT) is the administrator, custodian, transfer agent and securities lending agent for each fund. SEI Investments Distribution Co. is the distributor for each fund.

Trading Unit – A round lot is 100 shares. Odd lots (i.e., fewer than 100 shares) trade as well.

Price Quotations - iShares prices are quoted in dollars and decimals with minimum increments of 0.01. A quote of 100.01 would represent a price of $100.01 (or $10,001.00 for an iShares round lot).

Settlement of Trades – Three business days. All iShares are held in book-entry form only at The Depository Trust Company (DTC).

Dividends and Distributions – Each fund pays out dividends to investors at least annually and may pay them on a more frequent basis. All the funds distribute their net capital gains, if any, to investors annually.

Net Asset Value – IBT calculates each fund's net asset value (NAV) in accordance with the standard formula for valuing mutual fund shares at the close of regular trading, normally 4 p.m. New York time. The formula calls for deducting all of a fund's liabilities from the total value of its assets and dividing the result by the number of shares outstanding.

Initial Customer Margin and Short Sales – Regulation T-margin requirements for exchange traded securities apply. Long positions require 50 percent margin; short positions require 150 percent margin. iShares S&P 100 may be sold short on a downtick at any time during trading hours.

Creations and Redemptions – iShares S&P 100 Index Fund shares can be created at NAV in "creation unit" block sizes (50,000 shares) by the deposit of a specified portfolio of stock closely approximating the composition of the relevant index and a specified amount of cash. Conversely, a creation unit (50,000 shares) can be redeemed at NAV for a specific portfolio of stocks and a specified cash amount. The shares of component stocks in a "creation unit" are determined by the trustee prior to the opening of trading each business day. The required cash amount is determined on the same day following the close of trading.

Trading Hours – 8:30 a.m. to 3:00 p.m. Chicago time.

iSharesSM S&P 100 Index[®] Fund

(Ticker symbol OEF)

Based on the S&P 100 Index[®]. iShares S&P 100 (OEF) are exchange-traded funds that represent ownership in an open-end management investment company established to accumulate and hold the underlying stock portfolio of a particular index or market.

OEF trades like an individual stock, but offers investment diversification of an index. Like a stock, you can buy and sell OEF intra-day or hold it over the long term and receive dividends (the holder receives quarterly payments equal to accrued stock dividends minus accrued trust expenses). And, you can buy iShares S&P 100 on margin.

iShares S&P 100 can be created and redeemed only in "creation units" of 50,000 iShares each. All OEF transactions of less than 50,000 shares must take place in the secondary market. This creation/redemption feature, which permits the exchange of OEF for a S&P 100 Stock Index portfolio on any business day, helps deter OEF from trading at large discounts or premiums to the net asset value.

iShares S&P 100 trades only on the CBOE and is supported by Wolverine Trading L.P. The price of each share is close to 1/10th the level of the S&P 100. OEF is quoted over Consolidated Tape Association (CTA) and cleared through the National Stock Clearing Corporation (NSCC), subject to 3-day settlement.

iShares S&P 100 At-a-Glance

Flexibility.

Like stock, you can buy and sell OEF at any time during the trading day. Yet, unlike most stock, you can sell OEF short on a down-tick, making them a useful tool in both rising and falling markets.

Liquidity.

You can trade an entire market in a single transaction.

Intra-day Pricing.

Since OEF trades like stock, you can obtain real-time quotes.

Leverage.

Like ordinary stock and unlike open-end mutual funds, you can buy OEF shares on margin.

Tax Efficiencies.

Unlike mutual funds, OEF investors do not incur capital gains as a result of activity by other shareholders.

Lower Administrative Costs.

As a passive indexed investment, iShares S&P 100 have lower administrative costs than alternative, actively managed investments. No sales loads, although brokerage commissions will apply.
